

In one quick statement: How dare you??? Individuals and families have little rights in our day-to-day lives now and the least that can be done is to afford people the ability to reduce nuisance telephone calls in their private home(or cell phones). As it is, though we have had a reduction in our solicitation calls, those parties who fall under the umbrella which is currently allowed still are making a great number of calls on a consistent basis.

Please retain the "Do Not Call" list -- even at its minimal state -
- we as citizens have some right to say "no" about this. Assist us in protecting that right.
